Notice Prevent Food Poisoning

In order to prevent bacterial food poisoning which commonly occurs in the summer, keep the following points in mind.

1. Keep off bacteria which cause food poisoning.
 - Thoroughly wash your food products, hands, and cooking utensils.
 - Store food products in containers with covers or wrap them in plastic wrap.
2. Do not give bacteria a chance to grow.
 - Be sure to refrigerate foods which require refrigeration immediately after you purchase them.
 - Do not let food sit after you cook it – eat it promptly.
3. Get rid of any bacteria which are present.
 - Cook food sufficiently before eating it.
 - Regularly disinfect your cooking utensils.
